THE ATRIUM

"There are few hours in life more agreeable than the hour dedicated to the ceremony known as Afternoon Tea." -Henry James-

Here at The Atrium Lounge this ceremony has always been a special tradition.

To celebrate the beginning of a new chapter here at the Westin Dublin, we have created a Writers Afternoon Tea Menu.

The theme for this menu developed from the introduction of the Library room which was inspired by the great works of Ernest Hemingway and WB Yeats among others.

We selected these famous local and international writers to reflect our unique history. The local writers represent our place in Dublin City Centre next to Trinity College and the international writers represent the many overseas guests we welcome to the hotel daily.

The bookmark on your place setting is a token to share some of the literary works that have inspired this menu.

Please bring your bookmark home to mark your favourite piece of literature.
